Daylight saving ends this weekend

Daylight saving in South Australia comes to an end at 3am this Sunday, 2 April.

SafeWork SA advises turning clocks back one hour before going to bed on Saturday night.

Winding the clocks back maintains a 30-minute time difference between South Australia and Victoria, New South Wales, Tasmania and the Australian Capital Territory.

The next daylight saving period in South Australia starts on 1 October and ends on 1 April 2018.
